

Deer season is the most popular hunting season in Oklahoma. During that time, hunters track whitetailed deer so they can be used for food, and to help control the deer population.