

An aerial satellite photograph showing a large agricultural area. A prominent green line outlines a specific region. Inside this region, there is a grid of rectangular fields, some of which are brown (possibly fallow or harvested) and others are green. A winding river or stream flows through the area, particularly on the right side. The text 'HQ West Fields' is overlaid in yellow on the left side of the green boundary.

HQ West Fields