

An aerial satellite photograph showing a large agricultural area. The fields are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some fields appearing brown (possibly fallow or harvested) and others green. A prominent river or canal flows along the bottom and left sides of the area. A green line outlines the main agricultural zone. The text "South Fields" is overlaid on the left side of the image.

South Fields